Lodge, Champion of Freedom, Says Nixon Is Man of Vision

Spiritual Values
Preserve America,
1,500 Rally Told

Henry Cabot Lodge jumped from the frying pan of international tensions into the fire of national politics Saturday as he opened his Republican vice presidential campaign.

With hardly time to catch his breath, Lodge bowed out Friday United Nations and plunged into a hectic Labor Day weekend of campaigning over downstate New York, including Ulster county.

Concerning Vice President Nixon, who seeks the presidency, Lodge said "in him we have a man capable, wise and experienced to steer a safe course for the United States in a world of danger and mystery."

Nixon had to forego the trip that has him hospitalized in Washington.

Lodge's itinerary took him to Grossinger's Hotel in Liberty, the Courthouse Square in Monticello, the Concord Hotel at Kiemeha Lake, the Flager Hotel at South Fallsburg, the Nevele Country Club in Ellenville and the Shopping Plaza in Middletown.

1,500 at Ellenville

Approximately 1,500 greeted Lodge and his entourage at Ellenville, his Ulster County stop. With him were Mrs. Dodge, Governor Nelson Rockefeller of New York, Louis J. Lefkowitz, state attorney general, Congressman J. Ernest Wharton of the 29th District, and Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson of Woodstock, chairman of the Ulster County Republican Committee, who was master of ceremonies.

Lyle Hornbeck, chairman of the New York State Republican Campaign Committee and Wilma Sivertsen, co-chairman of the committee were also present.

Representing Ulster County were Jesse McHugh, supervisor of the Town of Shawangunk, and vice chairman of the GOP County Committee; Charles Relyea, supervisor, Town of Hurley; J. Edward Conway, chairman of the Anti-Discrimination Commission, State of New York; Maurice Goldberg, assistant attorney general; Frank Mueller, town chairman of the Town of Wawarsing; Lawrence Craft, Ulster County Clerk; Coroner Arthur Chipp, Donald R. MacCollum, president of Ulster County Young Republican Club; Joseph Martarano, secretary and Mrs. Audrey Gregorio, assistant secretary; Mrs. Raymond LeFever, president of Ulster County Women's Republican Club; Attorney John B. Sterley, chairman of the Kingston Republican City Committee; Bernhardt S. Kramer, vice chairman; Robert Snyder, secretary of Ulster County Republican Committee; Supervisor Peter Williams, Town of Saugerties; Sheriff Claude Bell and deputies who furnished an escort along with State Troopers.

Assemblyman Wilson introduced Governor Rockefeller as one of the state's outstanding governors and a great leader devoted to progress and the welfare of the people he represents.

Works for World Peace

The governor, noting the hospitality of the locale, and the hospitability of the Nevele management, in his introduction of Lodge pointed to his seven and a half years as U.S. ambassador to the United Nations.

"The Republican candidate for vice president," he said "is a man who has given all for peace, not alone in America, but in the whole world."

Lodge, in addressing the gathering, expressed his thanks for the "wonderful welcome" and said he appreciated the invitation from the Slutskys to visit their beautiful country club.

"This country hereabouts is simply wonderful, and it symbolizes the America that we love. How lucky we are that God has given us this wonderful country. We must do everything to keep our country strong and true to its ideals."

Nixon Man of Vision

Lodge praised Nixon as a man of "tough intellectual fibre" and "rich in experience." He called Nixon a man of vision and understanding, "the kind of man we need in the dangerous times ahead."

"This is my first day as private citizen," he remarked, after having resigned Friday from his United Nations post.

Chief Cautions Motorists About Schools Opening

Police Chief Robert F. Murphy today launched a city-wide safe driving campaign and urged all motorists to use extreme caution in operating motor vehicles and do everything to protect children on their way to school and back to their homes.

The chief placed the first New York Auto Club "School's Open" safety poster at Broadway and West O'Reilly Street. He appealed to motorists to keep their cars under control and be prepared to stop in any emergency, if necessary.

He urged motorists to be especially careful in driving in the

Grandma Moses Will Be 100 Wednesday, Still Painting

Grandma Moses, the famed and apparently indistructible primitive painter, will be 100 Wednesday.

The main celebration of her birthday was Sunday, however, so working people could attend.

Approximately 125 tramped through the home of the artist's daughter-in-law, they were greeted by the slight, indomitable artist and consumed two of the three cakes prepared for the event.

The visitors included friends, relatives and the curious, perhaps, some who had been skeptical when she announced at a similar party 10 years ago:

"I hope you all will be around to help me celebrate my 100th birthday."

Grandma, born Anna Mary Robertson, greeted each caller from her seat by a dining room table. Piled high on the table were congratulatory letters and cards from all over the world, a floral bouquet and the three cakes.

Mrs. Forrest Moses, her daughter-in-law, said "she remembers people remarkably well, and she's glad to see everyone. Actually it really was quite a little excitement."

Grandma had said earlier she hoped her daughter-in-law wouldn't go to too much trouble. Grandma doesn't like fuss.

It was signed Dwight D. Eisenhower, President of the United

2 Agents Traitors, Says Ike Reported as Taken On Red Trawler

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower regards the two National Security Agency employees who defected to the Soviet Union as self-confessed traitors to the United States, the White House said today.

Eisenhower's comment, relayed through press secretary James C. Hagerty, followed a report that the defecting code clerks were smuggled into the Soviet Union aboard a Soviet trawler that picked them up in a Cuban port.

Hagerty was asked whether the U.S. government had any knowledge, in advance of the appearance of Berton F. Mitchell and William H. Martin in Moscow today, that they had defected to the Soviet Union.

Hagerty replied that he wanted to change the word "defectors" to self-confessed traitors.

Then he added that it would not be appropriate for him, as a White House official, "to have any statement on self-confessed traitors."

Asked about Eisenhower's reaction on the matter, Hagerty replied he felt he had already stated how the President feels about it.

"Does he regard them as self-confessed traitors?" a newsman asked.

"Yes," Hagerty shot back.

"Don't you?"

Other government officials, who declined to be identified, reported that government agencies knew about the departure of Mitchell and Martin from Cuba aboard a Soviet trawler shortly after the ship left Cuba. Cuban authorities were believed to have cooperated in the trip, they said.

Rocky Hopeful Of Tax Rebate

NEW YORK (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller told a group of tax specialists today of his hope to give New Yorkers a tax rebate.

He also said that the way for America to stay competitive in world markets is to increase investments in industry through creative tax policies.

"Therefore," he added in a speech prepared for a National Tax Association annual conference, "it seems to me that one of the highest priority tasks of the next administration will be to re-examine our entire tax structure, with the objective of providing incentives to increased investment in private enterprise."

"Over the years," he said, "there has been much talk about sound fiscal policy. I deeply believe in this and have adhered to this policy in New York State, where we have restored pay-as-you-go financing, and I hope to be able to recommend a 10 percent income tax rebate for this year."

W. N. Thayer Is Finance Leader For Nixon-Lodge

Walter N. Thayer, New York, president of Whitney Communications Corporation, son of the late Dr. and Mrs. Walter N. Thayer, Jr., of Ellenville and brother of Harry M. Thayer, manager of WGHQ radio station, has been named chairman of the Finance Committee of National Volunteers for Nixon-Lodge, it was announced today by Charles S. Rhine, chairman, and Peter M. Flanigan, director of the independent organization.

Associated with Thayer in the formation of the finance committee and its drive for funds will be Sidney Weinberg, senior partner of Goldman, Sachs & Co., and Jeremiah Milbank, who is in the investment management business in New York. Milbank has been named treasurer.

"The finance committee, which will be national in scope, will conduct a broad-based drive to finance the launching and servicing of 5,000 local volunteer clubs and special committees made up of one million volunteer workers, being formed across the country between

State Highways Are Clogged

Traffic Fatal Total 24 Over Holiday Span

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — New Yorkers returned today to homes and jobs after clogging highways, beaches and waterways during the long Labor Day Weekend.

Traffic accidents killed 24 persons in New York State during the holiday period that began at 6 p. m. Friday and ended at midnight Monday night.

Four Boating Fatalities

Four persons died in boating accidents, including two in a crash that involved a Hudson River excursion boat Saturday night. Three swimmers were drowned and seven were killed in other types of accidents.

The holiday crowds surged into resort areas throughout the state. They pushed attendance at the New York State Fair in Syracuse to 271,533 for the three-day holiday period and drew the wrath of the Warren County Sheriff.

Sheriff Carl McCoy told reporters Monday night that "the almost total lack of responsibility shown by the younger set" in the Lake George area during the holiday "was appalling" and had led to 52 arrests.

Clear weather and sunny skies greeted the holiday crowds as they departed. But intermittent rain plagued the return trips.

State Police said traffic on most highways was generally heavy during the holiday period, including the Thruway.

No major traffic jams were reported, however.

During a non-holiday period of equal length, August 19-22, the Associated Press counted 19 highway deaths, 10 from boating accidents, 2 drownings and 6 from other types of accidents in New York State for a total of 37.

Over the Labor Day weekend last year, which also was a three-day holiday, accidents killed 46 persons, including 31 on the state's highways.

Coeymans Men Drown

Two Coeymans men, Joseph

Palmer and William Vrooman, both 47, were drowned after they were thrown from their outboard motor boat Saturday night. Their boat hit an anchored tug and the excursion boat SS Peter Stuyvesant.

WALLKILL NEWS*Tenth Summer Swim Program Concluded Friday

WALLKILL—The Wallkill Recreation swimming program, directed by Mrs. Jean Kazimir, ended its 10th successful year Friday with an outstanding record of youngsters who learned to swim and others who greatly improved their swimming.

Mrs. Kazimir was assisted in the program by Mrs. Vivian Backofen, John Sherwood and Paul Hardwick.

One of the highlights of the program was a beginner's picnic last Monday with an attendance of 85 children. Seventy children attended the swimmers' picnic the following day. There was an average daily attendance of 60 children each day throughout the summer. The swim sessions were held at Tillson Lake.

The following children passed the beginner's tests:

John Abrahamson, Barbara Lasouska, Sharon Poole, Mary Jane Wagner, Richard Knapp, Patricia Agor, Helena Ishultz, Warren Childs, Stephen Wood, Karen Brulman, Norma Suarez, Joseph Serivina, Larry Palen, Michael Tymozyn, Janet Edwak, Richard Suo, Robert Lawson, John Masterson and Leslie DeChillo.

Also, Kathy Lasouska, Kathy Hoyt, Carol Knott, Paul Terwilliger, Timothy Riggins, Tom Meredith, Jan Abrahamson, Fred Flood, Elizabeth Salimie, Karen Meier, Charliou Mullen, Theresa Napolitano, Suzanne Mack and Donna Palen.

The following children passed the intermediate tests:

Betty and Barbara McClung, Linda Edsall, Lola Garrison, Rita Napoli, Marianne Schettini, Frances Schettini, Debbie Gobe, Gertrude Sturms, Michael Reilly, Bruce Buck, Walter Horner, Joey Vogel, Gary Hoyt, Warren Childs, Jean Maria Martin.

Also Marion Suarez, Donna Wnuk, Carol Meredith, Daniel Riggins, Robert Druttmann, John Imhoff, Melvin Childs, David Harsburgh, Barbara Backofen, Jay Terwilliger, Tommy Mulqueen, Anthony Cesare, Ray Rerra, Brenda Earl, Henry Hanewich, Bruce McCord and James Mullen.

The following children passed the swimmer test:

Linda Birch, Larry Young, Joan Wood, Mary Ann Flood, Stephanie Fillingham, Donald Childs, Tom Childs, Dave Doolittle, Jack Lasouska, Billy Reilly, Chris Doscher, Judy Vogel, Linda Auchmoody Ursula Osendorf and Bonnie Hoyt.

The following passed their Junior Life Saver test:

Betty Carr, Charles Morris, Janet Fillingham, Jeffrey Morris, Vincent Schettini, George Druttmann, Bernice Birch, Douglas Agor, Eric Abrahamson, Donald Mullen, Suzanne Kopaskie, Alice Burmeister and Mary Kroll.

The director and her assistants in his highly successful program were aided by volunteer assistants Mary Wickes, Christopher Abrahams and Jerry Doolittle.

A door-to-door canvass was held in June by the recreation committee and volunteer workers and with the help of the community the program was financially successful.

Stratton Desires Protest Filed in Reporters Death

SCHENECTADY, N. Y. (AP)—Rep. Samuel S. Stratton, D-N.Y., a personal friend of an American reporter killed in the Congo, says he has asked the State Department to file a strong protest over the slaying.

Stratton said Monday that "I'm profoundly shocked by the news of the killing of Scripps-Howard reporter Henry N. Taylor. He was a good personal friend of mine and a former shipmate in the Navy during the Korean War."

"The anarchy now existing in the Congo can lead only to complete Communist domination of that area. We simply cannot allow this situation to exist. I have wired Secretary of State Herter to urge the government to file the strongest possible protest with the Congo government over Mrs. Taylor's death."

Taylor was shot and killed Sunday while reporting the fighting between Congolese Army troops and armed civilians supporting Albert Kalonji in Kasai Province.

Purpose of the turboprop's unusual feature is to allow straight-in loading of the plane's 33 tons of cargo. Company officials say this cuts loading time from five hours to one hour.

Kingston Library Receives New Books

New books at Kingston City Library include Loren Eiseley's interpretation of the new advances of science, "The Firmament of Time."

Also dealing with a new scientific breakthrough, but in a documentary style, is James Calvert's story of the atomic submarine, Skate, and its Arctic voyage, "Surface at the Pole."

The new books:

Finances — "When Your Husband Retires," Hart; "Handbook of Church Finances," Holt; "Social Security Handbook 1960."

Science — "Frontiers of the Sea," Cowen; "The Firmament of Time," Eiseley; "Surface at the Pole," Calvert.

Fiction — "Evvie," Caspary; "This Demi-Paradise," Halsey; "The Last Temptation of Christ," Kazantzakis; "He and She," Le Comte; "House Full of Women," McFarland; "Silence of Desire," Markandaya; "Anybody's Spring," Murray.

War and Peace — "Life and Death of the Luftwaffe," Baumback; "Strategy of Peace," Kennedy; "Auschwitz," Nyiszli; "Years of the War Birds," Whitehouse.

People — "Hitler," Bullock; "Chord of Steel," Costain; "Indians of Canada," Jenness; "Jordi," Rubin; "Kreuger," Whitehouse.

SAN JOSE DECLARATION

The point of view of the United States, as opposed to that of Cuba, was decisively upheld in the Declaration of San Jose signed by the foreign ministers of 19 western hemisphere nations. The resolution, unanimously approved after the Cuban delegation had walked out, puts the Organization of American States strongly on record against any foreign intervention in the hemisphere.

The Cuban delegation had good reason to walk out, with such defiance as it could muster in the face of disapproval by all its regional neighbors. The O.A.S. action serves notice on the Communist bloc that any attempt to establish a beachhead in the Americas will be resisted. It also constitutes a hard slap at Cuba, whose flirting with Moscow and Peiping occasioned the foreign ministers' conference.

One important point must be stressed. Although it is a warning to Cuba, and a strong condemnation of the Cuban government's playing with Communist fire, the declaration is not hostile to the Cuban people. This distinction is vital.

Cubans will be inflamed by the O.A.S. action. There will doubtless be an emotional rallying to Fidel Castro's standard. The regime will certainly seek to make the most of the feeling, which dictators exploit whenever they can, that the homeland is beleaguered and ringed by enemies. Yet there's a chance that the San Jose declaration also will act as a dash of cold water on over-heated nationalism; there is a chance that Cubans will come to their senses and force the government to try for a reconciliation with the United States.

If that happens, it is up to this country to act as magnanimously as possible—to welcome genuine negotiation of differences. Our quarrel is not with the Cuban people, but with a regime that has been gripped by Communism.

A decline in egg production is predicted for this fall. In the old rough and ready days of politics, candidates would have greeted this as encouraging news.

FOR SCIENCE ONLY

The headlines were various, but one went like this: Navy Prepares Its Forces for Sixth Antarctic Expedition. The interesting thing about that headline, as about the story, is that no military overtones can be read into it; this will be purely a scientific expedition designed to wrest further secrets from the White Continent.

This sixth expedition will continue work begun by the others. A particular objective this time, is to start construction of an atomic power station to supply electricity for permanent scientific work. The difference, this year, is that such work—and only such work—is expressly provided for in a 12-nation Antarctic treaty recently approved by the Senate. Peaceful exploration of the south polar continent is the order of the day from now on. That is a significant step forward.

It's not too early to be thinking about your Christmas list, says one gift adviser. And just when we were starting to enjoy summer.

PEOPLE—PEOPLE—PEOPLE

World population increased by more than 48 million persons last year, according to the recently published U.N. Demographic Yearbook.

Communist China is the country with the greatest population—some 660 million inhabitants. India is second, with 403 million. Russia is in third place with 209 million, and the United States ranks fourth, populationwise, with 178 million of us on deck.

And 5,000 more persons are being born throughout the world every hour.

Those are hundreds of millions of vital living reasons why mankind must find solutions to its many problems before too much longer.

'These Days'

BY GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

WAR BY THREAT

Nikita Khrushchev likes to talk. He delivers speeches and talks to all and sundry. He is not the man of mystery that Stalin was or the remote philosopher that Lenin was. I heard Lenin speak on several occasions; he was not an orator; nothing like Trotsky who could make the rafters ring. Khrushchev is a bit of a clown. He knows how to make an audience laugh. He can stick the knife in deep and then pour salt into the wound.

There is a record of more than 40 occasions in which Khrushchev threatened nuclear destruction of some countries or of the whole world. Among the recipients of these threats have been Denmark, France, West Germany, Greece, Iceland, Iran, Italy, Japan, the Netherlands, Norway, Pakistan, Sweden, Turkey, the United Kingdom, and the United States. He has also threatened to use rockets against the United States if we protect ourselves in Cuba.

Meanwhile he conducts a running argument with Mao Tze-tung that he does not need war at all; that the capitalist countries will collapse from their inner degeneration and waste; that all the Communist countries need do is sit back and wait; that the next stage in civilization is Communism as indicated by Marx and that it cannot be otherwise. Mao Tze-tung desires that the force of the Communist and Socialist states be mobilized now in a war with the capitalist states.

Mao's argument is that imperialism has collapsed. The empires of Great Britain, France, the Netherlands, Belgium, Spain, and Italy have disappeared; that Asia and Africa have been liberated. Nevertheless, the greatest of all imperialistic countries, the United States, survives. Whereas the United States does not practice colonialism, it does use economic imperialism to dominate all the Western countries and it interferes with the Marxist Revolution. Therefore the United States must be destroyed by war and pronto.

Khrushchev regards Mao Tze-tung's ideas as horsefeathers because he advocates a theory of competitive co-existence by which he means that Soviet Russia and its satellites and the United States and the Western powers will be unfriendly and friendly intermittently, competing for control, and that whichever will win will win. Khrushchev's expectation is that Communism must inevitably be victorious in this competitive contest.

Mao Tze-tung wants Russia to fight the war. Mao can, of course, provide manpower if it be needed. Long ago, he said that China could lose about half its population for the cause. Nevertheless, the next war, as the last two general wars, will be won in factories and by means of communications; in this respect, Soviet Russia is superior to Red China and therefore it is up to Soviet Russia. Khrushchev comes of Russian peasant stock, from a people who calculate closely. Whereas Khrushchev in his oratory threatens country after country with destruction, he knows full well that if he starts anything, the entire Soviet Universal State will go up in smoke and that that would be the end of the great Marxist experiment.

He will therefore not let Mao get him involved in war at this moment. Threats—yes; war—no! If Mao wants war, let him do his own fighting. So Khrushchev is withdrawing his experts and advisers from Red China. They are returning to Soviet Russia by the trainload. This does not mean war between Red China and Soviet Russia. It does mean that Mao Tze-tung is unwilling to pursue Khrushchev's policy of competitive co-existence which means an avoidance of a fighting war while living under the constant threat of war.

The test of strength within the Communist world will appear in the satellites. Mao Tze-tung is undoubtedly seeking to win as many of the satellites to his side as he can get. His ideas are popular in East Germany which would prefer to gobble up West Germany and to spread out from there. At one time, Poland was influenced by Mao, but the Communist position there is weakened by increasing resistance among the people. Czechoslovakia prefers Khrushchev's concept, particularly as it is the greatest steel complex in the Soviet world.

It is going to be a competition within the Soviet Universal State between Mao and Khrushchev for power. Mao needs a war to absorb Japan, the whole of Korea, Burma, Vietnam—in a word, to reach the outermost Chien-lung Line. Khrushchev needs his kind of peace to consolidate the strength of Soviet Russia.

Families Can Recognize Evidence of 'Little Strokes'

By HAROLD T. HYMAN, M.D.

Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

When you speak of a "stroke," the listener is apt to see, in his mind's eye, the picture of a person who's suffered paralysis of one side of the body (hemiplegia). And he's apt to assume that the cause for the hemiplegia was a brain hemorrhage that resulted from a break in a brittle artery (cerebral arteriosclerosis).

Yet the vast majority of "strokes" do not result in hemiplegia. And most of them, by far, are due to clot within the arteriosclerotic artery (cerebral thrombosis) that shuts off the blood supply to an area of brain tissue of variable size.

Thanks to Dr. Walter Alvarez, my good friend and fellow columnist, the medical profession has been alerted to the great frequency and importance of "small strokes."

Since early recognition of the "small stroke" may delay and even prevent the occurrence of the "big stroke," and since members of the family may be in a more favorable position to make this recognition than a physician, I'd like to describe for you what happens when a person suffers one of these minor cerebral accidents.

Here are just a few of the happenings that may arouse your suspicions:

The complaints of a "queer feeling" in the head that lasts only a short time. Or that seems to come and go.

A change in the person's character, capabilities, judgment or conduct. For example, the very proper person who suddenly becomes coarse or noisy. The competent person who begins to make all sorts of mistakes (can't balance checkbook; forgets birthdays and anniversaries; misplaces personal articles, like eyeglasses). Or the wise member of the family who no longer seems able to make up his mind. Or who gives obviously foolish advice. Or the neat person who becomes careless in dress or table manners.

A marked change in the person's emotional behavior. Like impatience or sudden fits of rage. Or loss of interest and a lack of reaction to pleasures or misfortunes.

A deterioration in capacities. Like slowing and halting of speech. Difficulty getting out of a chair. Unsteadiness on feet. Stumbling gait. Frequent slips or tumbles. Changed handwriting and misspellings.

Changes in habits and appearance. Lessening of appetite with weight loss. Greater difficulty getting up in the morning. Frequent periods of snoring during conversations, in front of TV or when left alone for a few moments. Loss of alertness in expression ("just doesn't look right"); "has suddenly begun to look old".

Perhaps now you understand what I meant when I suggested that these signs would be more readily recognizable by members of the family than a physician. Especially a specialist who might be seeing the patient for the first time.

WASHINGTON — (NEA)

United Nations forces in the Congo may have not more than two weeks in which to establish their authority and get on top of the chaotic African situation.

This challenge has developed from the rifle-butted head bashings administered to American, Canadian and Swedish troops by undisciplined detachments of Congolese revolutionists.

As this is written, no U.N. Security Council meeting has been called to consider this matter. But it could come any day or hour. Italian Ambassador Egilio Ortona is chairman of the Security Council in September.

The Congo could be the first big test for U. S. Ambassador James J. Wadsworth as he takes over from Henry Cabot Lodge.

There has been some hope in United Nations circles that the Congo's government under Premier Patrice Lumumba might collapse. If he is thrown out by his own parliament, there will be better prospects for U.N. dealing with President Kasavubu.

If, on the other hand, Lumumba gets the upper hand with the backing of Force Publique remnants, anything could happen.

NEW REPORTS from American observers in the Congo reveal deteriorating conditions. For the past year the United States has been guided by Belgian assurances that transition to native government would be without incident. That was not an experienced, unified command, they are believed to be superior to the 25,000 native Congolese enlisted men from the Belgian-trained but now officerless Force Publique. But up to now the U.N. troops have lacked authority to shoot to defend themselves or to maintain order.

DO YOU REMEMBER

By SOPHIE MILLER

Soon we will have fine autumn weather, I hope. I was just looking through "Wake-Robin" by John Burroughs, my copy published in 1901. He knew how to enjoy these surroundings, many of us take for granted.

This from the introduction to his book, "Since I Left Washington in 1873, instead of an iron wall in front of my desk, I have had a large window that overlooks the Hudson and the wooded heights beyond, and I have exchanged the vault for a vineyard. The vineyard winds its tendrils around me and delights me, and its loaded trellises are more pleasing to me than the closets of greenbacks."

John Burroughs writes further: "I am not always aware myself how much pleasure I have had in a walk till I try to share it with my reader. Literature does not grow wild in the woods. Every artist does something more than copy Nature. Most persons think the bee gets honey from the flowers, but she does not; honey is a product of the bee; it is the nectar of the flowers with the bee added.

What the bee gets from the flower is sweet water; this she puts through a process of her own and imparts to it her own quality. She reduces the water and adds to it a minute drop of formic acid. The bee is therefore the type of the true poet, the true artist. Her product always reflects her environment."

Burroughs further writes: "If I name every bird I see in my walk, describe its color and ways, etc., give a lot of facts or details, it is doubtful if my reader is interested. But if I relate the bird in some way to human life, to my own life, . . . then I give my reader a live bird and not a labeled specimen."

Burroughs looked up at the sky in those days for birds, we look up and watch Echo nowadays, yet how many of us will study astronomy so we can recognize the stars Echo meets and passes before our eyes. Our famous naturalist wrote then, "In all excursions to the woods or to the shore, the student of birds will have an advantage over his companions. The cawing of a crow makes him feel at home, while a new note or a new song drowns all care."

Audubon, on the desolate coast of Labrador, is happier than any king ever was, and on shipboard is nearly cured of his seasickness when a new gull appears in sight."

He further writes: "The most precious things have no commercial value." It seems someone was trying to sell a book on birds to a high official and used the following sales talk: "It is not, your excellency, mere technical knowledge of the birds that you are asked to purchase, but a new interest in the fields and woods, a new moral and intellectual tonic, a new key to the treasure-house of nature. Think of the many other things your excellency would get—the air, the sunshine, the healing fragrance and coolness, and the many respite from the knavery and turmoil of political life." At the time Wilson's book sold for $125.

Personally I am acquainted with a robin, and from then on I know little about birds. If they would only stop and preen and show themselves. Once in a while strange birds stop by for a while, like the three red birds who come to eat my sunflower seeds. I think a strange, bright colored bird makes most folks stop and say, "Look, did you see that? I wonder what kind of a bird that was?" Our Hudson Valley and Catskill Mountains have many interesting birds we can observe and enjoy, even for a fleeting moment.

52 Arrests Made Of Younger Folk

LAKE GEORGE, N. Y. (AP)—The almost total lack of responsibility shown by the younger set in this resort area was appalling," Sheriff Carl K. McCoy says.

He told reporters Monday night that the behavior of men and women between 18 and 25 over the Labor Day weekend led to 52 arrests on charges of public intoxication and disorderly conduct.

Most of the arrests, he said, resulted from a series of isolated incidents involving drunkenness and noise-making.

McCoy said most of the offenders lived in the Lake George area.

Take Unexpected Dip As Plane Motor Fails

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—Fred and Eula Riser of Greenwood, Ind., took an unexpected dip in Lake Erie — so unexpected that they brought their twin-engine plane with them.

Riser told State Police the plane developed engine trouble Saturday day while enroute from their home to Niagara Falls. The water looked calm, he said, and set the craft down about 40 feet from shore five miles south of here. A slight ripple, however, flipped the craft.

The Risers waded ashore, Fred, 44, with a slight head bruise. His wife, 44, escaped injury.

1st Polio Death in 2 Years

OLEAN, N. Y. (AP)—The first polio death in Cattaraugus County in two years was reported Monday. Miss Beatrice Alice Chaffee, 39, of Olean died of Bulbar Polio Sunday. The county health commission said.

Buffalo Man Is Held After Fight Ending in Death

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—A former carwasher at a downtown garage has been charged with second-degree assault in connection with the death of a 54-year-old bookkeeper.

Cecil D. Lynch of Buffalo was being held on the charge following a fight Saturday with Edward Kreitzer of Eggertsville in the garage.

A medical examiner said Kreitzer suffered a fatal heart attack caused by exertion, but withheld a verdict pending conference with the district attorney's office.

Lynch told police he had become involved in a fight with the victim over wages he said he had coming. Lynch was discharged from the garage last April. The ex-employee admitted striking Kreitzer with a broom handle during the fight, police said.

Health for All

Open Season

Home is the hunter, home from the hill, having bagged his limit of deer, pheasant, small game and other hunters. He may also bring back a little extra something — not in his game bag, but in his lungs or his bloodstream.

Wild animals are afflicted with a number of diseases. People who handle these sick animals or are bitten by them may become infected.

General Precaution — If you come across a dead rabbit, woodchuck, squirrel, or bird, don't touch it. While it may have been shot by a hunter who was later unable to find it, it's safest to assume that it died of disease you may catch if you handle it. If a skunk, fox, coyote, or any other animal which normally shies away from people, strolls fearlessly up to you, apparently tame, get out of there fast. The animal probably has rabies and it will bite you if it can get close enough.

A sick or dead bird may have ornithosis, which produces a serious pneumonia-like illness in man.

Sick or dead small game, such as rabbits, squirrels, woodchucks, may have tularemia. In man, this is a serious and sometimes fatal disease. The symptoms are fever, swollen and painful glands, lung trouble and intestinal disorders.

The bite of a rabid animal shoots rabies virus into the bloodstream. Rabies attacks the brain and is almost 100 per cent fatal unless treated. As immediate first aid, wash the wound with plenty of soap and water and encourage bleeding while rushing to the nearest doctor or hospital. Medical treatment consists of a series of vaccine shots, with anti-rabies serum added if the bite was on the neck or head.

Bus Carrying 35 Lands on Roof Following Upset

KEESEVILLE, N. Y. (AP)—Ten persons were injured Monday night when a chartered bus with 35 passengers careered down an embankment, rolled over once and came to rest on its roof.

Only one of the injured was hospitalized.

The driver of the bus, Gerald L. Wise, 30, of Mountainside, N.J., told State Police he lost control of the vehicle when he tried to swat a bee that landed on his arm.

The bus was returning to Newark, N. J. from Montreal. The crash occurred on Route 9 near this Adirondack community.

Mrs. Sadie Fox, 39, of Newark, remained overnight in a hospital for observation.

'Way Out There' Is Theme For Foundation's 1960 Play

"Way Out There" is where the annual Woodstock Foundation production will be on Friday and Saturday (Sept. 16-17) at the Woodstock Playhouse.

That is the theme chosen by Messrs. Ernie Ward, Walter Balk and Al Darnovsky, those peerless purveyors of wit, comedy and satire. The production will be a delightful melange, embracing hilarious takeoffs on things way out in outer space. It is as modern and refreshing in outlook as the next globular swing by Echo 1.

Several well known Woodstock theatrical personalities have been added to the talent roster which now numbers 25.

One of the highspots of the production will be a skit entitled, "Campaign Trail", a stimulating takeoff of modern, high pressure political campaigns. The dialogue is sparkling and penetrating and Woodstock's noted composer - musician, Alexander Semmler, has composed a special song for the skit entitled, "Campaign Trail". Dramatis personae for this zany stint include author Ernie Ward, Bill West,

Muller on Bill Harrison Muller, Woodstock's well known TV personality and dance master, will do one of his dance specialties and Barbara Moncur, the prominent ballad singer, has composed a brand new ditty for the occasion, "Pablo Picasso Blues."

And so it went. The audience was moved, almost unbelieving, for me, it was a memorable experience.—YEHUDI WYNER.

league remarked to me that he had heard many of the great violinists play Ravel's Tzigane, but this was the finest performance of them all. I could well agree, for this was an unsurpassable interpretation.

Ise Sass was the admirable accompanist, collaborating especially well in the difficult Strauss Sonata.

And so it went. The audience was moved, almost unbelieving, for me, it was a memorable experience.—YEHUDI WYNER.

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP)—The New York State Fair, beset by accidents, drew more than a quarter-of-a-million persons over the three-day holiday weekend.

Two accidents, one on an amusement ride and the other during stock-car races, injured 14 persons.

Despite the tragedy that has dogged the fair since the day before its opening, the mammoth exposition has drawn 312,955 admissions in its first four days. It closes Sept. 10.

It drew 98,008 yesterday, 75,743 Sunday and 98,782 Saturday.

The total attendance record is 517,776, set last year.

Six persons, including four children, were injured Sunday when three cars of a roller-coaster type amusement ride collided. Three of the injured were hospitalized for facial cuts or broken facial bones. The other were treated and discharged.

Fair officials said one of the cars stopped suddenly at the low level of the ride, called "The Wild Mouse", and two other cars slammed into it. None of the passengers was thrown out.

James E. Strates Jr., operator of the midway, said he was unable to explain the crash. He said the ride had been thoroughly inspected by a state official and by himself before the fair opened last Friday.

The Middletown Daily Record charged in a copyrighted story two days before the fair opened that many of the rides at the fair had not been inspected by state officials. Fair director Harold L. Creal confirmed that there would be no state inspection but said he was confident the rides had adequate supervision.

Hospitalized were John F. Ruffage, 42, of Whitesboro, his son, John S., 11, and Susan N. Bennett, 11, of Clinton.

During the stock-car racing program Monday a driver and seven other car. He was reported in satisfactory condition in a hospital.

Six persons were injured later when a wheel flew off a car and rolled through the midway.

Kopp Memorial Art Exhibit Is Due at Gallery

The Woodstock Artists Association will hold a memorial exhibition of the works of the late Ann B. Kopp, Woodstock artist, who died on July 3 of this year. The exhibition will be held in the Woodstock Gallery from Sept. 10 through Sept. 17. It will be a retrospective showing of her sculpture, drawings and paintings.

A resident of her beloved Woodstock for over 20 years, Ann B. Kopp served on the executive board of the Woodstock Artists Association and was also a member of the woman's Art Association of New York and the Artists Equity.

Born in Lithuania, Ann was brought to the United States at the age of six and educated in the public schools of New York city. Entering the business world, Ann obtained a position in the film industry where she was entrusted with the selection and titling of foreign films.

Her first introduction to the arts was through batique. While still engaged in earning her livelihood, she sought to express her creative urge in art, and from batique resorted to the study and work in sculpture which satisfied her deep love of form and earned her awards.

Sculpture, however, proved physically strenuous — what with handling heavy blocks of hard wood, hand rubbing and hand polishing. It became apparent that a new medium was to be found for her creative hunger and she found it in painting which also earned her awards.

Aside from her great interest in art, she will be remembered for her part in the cultural and social life of Woodstock. Her untimely passing has brought deep sorrow to all who knew her.

Murphy's Libel Action Settled By Oneonta Star

A libel action brought by Vernon Murphy of 149 Main Street, Kingston, assistant corporation counsel for the City of New York, against the Oneonta Star, Inc., of Oneonta, has been settled and will be stricken from the Ulster County Supreme Court calendar.

Settlement of the libel action included a substantial cash payment by the Star to Attorney Murphy and also a retraction published in the newspaper. Andrew J. Cook, Jr., appeared for Murphy in the matter.

Murphy described the cash settlement as "insufficient" to compensate him for the personal damage done him and said that while it had been accepted it was "unsatisfactory" to him because of the amount and it was also "unsatisfactory" to the defendants because of the considerable size of the settlement. One of the terms of the settlement was that a retraction be published in the paper in a conspicuous manner.

The action arises out of an article appearing in the Star in 1957 which dealt with suspension of Attorney Murphy from his $12,000 a year post as an assistant corporation counsel for New York City in the Kingston office, where New York City's multi-million dollars land buying program in Delaware County for reservoir purposes is carried on.

At the time the Star carried a story, later found to be without foundation, that he had forced 13 subordinates to buy tickets to a $100 Democratic dinner.

Actually, the charges against Murphy had been made in New York City in a telegram which carried a fictitious name and a Delhi address. The incident occurred in February 1957, after Mayor Robert F. Wagner of New York City received the telegram containing the false charges about the dinner tickets.

The telegram was signed, "John J. Dunn," of Delhi. Investigation showed that there was no such person living in Delhi.

At the time of the incident, Murphy had been employed by the City of New York for 19 months. He had charged from time to time that wholesale perjury existed in connection with the Delaware County land cases were New York had been buying Delaware county lands for years in connection with its huge reservoir projects.

Immediately after his suspension, he protested his innocence and charged he was a victim of "people who want to get rid of me because I have been vigorous in defending the city's interests" in the water supply matters.

Four weeks after the suspension Murphy was reinstated with all back salary. In the investigation by Corporation Counsel Peter C. Brown, then corporation counsel, it was disclosed the telegram charges were apparently the work of a vicious prankster whose identity is still unknown.

Assistant Corporation Counsel Murphy told a Freeman reporter today that while the case against the Oneonta Star was settled, the case was not "closed" and he would continue to investigate the matter until the identity of the mysterious "John J. Dunn" had been ascertained and the sender of the telegram was learned.

The libel action commenced in Ulster County, was listed as Case No. 464 on the Supreme Court calendar. Andrew J. Cook, Jr., appeared for Murphy and Becker, Card & Lachman for the Oneonta Star, Inc.

Last year a motion was made by the defendant company for a change of venue, removing the case from Ulster county to Otsego County. The application was opposed by Andrew J. Cook, Jr., and denied by Justice William Deckelman.

P'keepsie Man Held

NORTHAMPTON, Mass. (AP)—Two New York State men were arrested Monday night as, police said, they attempted to loot a diner on Route 5.

Fred A. Ryder, 32, of Poughkeepsie, and Thomas D. Lanning, 30, of Fulton, were charged with breaking and entering.

Police said the men had loaded their car with groceries, cigars and candy.

Lodge, Champion

ca great are its spiritual values," Lodge said, and its concern for the dignity of man and the opportunities for the freedom of the individual.

"The great heritage of our various religions make America unique," he stressed.

"It is these spiritual values that enable us to prevail in these dangerous times."

Lodge pointed out that, except for the stand of the Communist nations, that the things we believe in are those humanity strives for in general. "The things we have are really what all the world wants," he said.

Lodge urged repeatedly in speeches during the tour that the nation make civil rights a reality.

He said the nation must have not only military strength but also "the strength that comes for example—the way in which we practice what we preach."

Among these examples, he said, was the fulfillment of civil rights promises and a demonstration that "we believe that all men are created equal."

The resorts toured by Lodge are heavily patronized by Jewish vacationers from New York, but Lodge denied he was angling for the Jewish vote as such.

A reporter mentioned talk of Jewish bloc voting and said there had been speculation that his tour might be an opening gun "to try and round up these independent voters."

Lodge said he thought it an improper question.

"I think it is violating the spirit of the constitution," Lodge said adding:

"I am going to go everywhere in this country and try to meet as many Americans as I can. Here in the Catskills I have met a wonderful group of Americans, very representative American citizens, and that is what I hope to do between now and November 8."

The reporter said he had not meant the question to be unfair.

Lodge said he still thought it was—that it was not a "thing to bring up in a campaign because that has nothing to do at all with choosing a man for President and Vice President..."

(Morgan Davis & Co.)

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market was down slightly in moderate trading early this afternoon. Key stocks declined from fractions to about a point. A few issues bucked the downturn.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off .50 to 220.10 with the industrials down .80, the rails off .30 and the utilities unchanged.

The market entered the important post-Labor Day period with little stimulation from news of business or the economy. A government report leveled off previous forecasts for business spending on plant and equipment. Steel output was expected to fall because of rail strikes, Labor Day cutbacks and sluggish orders.

Moderate losses were taken by steels, autos, rails, oils, drugs, electrical equipments and most aircrafts.

Honor National Jaycees President On September 14

The president of United States Junior Chamber of Commerce will be honored at a testimonial dinner in Newburgh on Sept. 14. Morgan J. Doughton of Allentown, Pa., national Jaycee head, plans to make his only official upstate New York State stop at Newburgh.

Newburgh Jaycees will join Jaycees from counties in the Hudson Valley area in honoring their national leader.

The Wednesday testimonial dinner will be held 7:30 p. m. at Meadowbrook Lodge on Route 94, it was announced today by James C. Wright, Newburgh Jaycee president.

Doughton will be accompanied on his visit to Newburgh by Donald Lawson of Saugerties, New York State Jaycee president. Other state Jaycee leaders are expected to attend.

Doughton, 33, was elected U. S. Jaycee president in June at the annual convention in St. Louis.

Methodist Men Set Fall Assembly At Camp Epworth

Methodist laymen of the New York Conference of the Methodist Church will meet at newly acquired Camp Epworth located near High Falls, to hold their fifth annual fall weekend assembly September 9, 10 and 11.

Camp Epworth, formerly "Dreamland," a privately owned and operated summer resort, is now owned by the New York Conference, having been purchased by the Methodists last year.

Some 100 or more Methodist laymen, representing all four districts of the conference (New York, Newburgh, Kingston and Poughkeepsie) will meet starting at 5 p. m. Friday evening for registration. Following dinner, devotional services will be conducted.

A special film will be shown, and a hymn singing period will round out the evening.

All area Methodist laymen are invited to attend any or all of the sessions at Epworth. A spokesman for the committee on arrangements emphasized that the assembly is directed toward a practical knowledge of church work, spiritual aids, good fellowship and a sharing of Christian experiences.

Saturday's sessions begin at 7 a. m. and throughout the day and evening speakers will give talks on selected subjects.

Carl E. Waite, White Plains,

New York Conference lay leader, will talk on Methodist Men (clubs) and conference-wide activities.

William O. Brown, Yonkers attorney, and New York District lay leader is scheduled to speak on board of lay activities projects for 1961.

Frank Beebe, Stanfordville, Poughkeepsie lay leader, will talk on "Stewardship."

Arthur G. Crist, secretary of the lay activities board will be in charge of the Saturday afternoon recreation period.

Morris A. Wiley, a church lay leader, will discuss the annual Laymen's Day observance in October.

Frederick Snyder, Kingston, noted lecturer, world traveler and news analyst, will speak on "Challenging events of Today" during the Saturday evening session.

The Rev. Alex Porteus, Newburgh, executive secretary of the boards of education and missions of the conference, will explain future plans of the conference for Epworth. The District Superintendents of the New York Conference will hold an informal panel discussion during the afternoon. Those attending are: the Rev. W. Bernard Grossman, New York District, the Rev. Dr. John M. Pearson, Newburgh District, the Rev. Dr. Reginald T. Edwards, Poughkeepsie District, and the Rev. George P. Werner, Kingston District.

Sunday activities of the assembly will begin with Wesley prayer service at 7 a. m. followed by communion services and breakfast. Sunday school and morning worship will be conducted in Epworth chapel. The traditional assembly "Tie that Binds" dinner will be held at noon and the assembly sessions will close at 1:30 p. m.

Thomas W. Miller, 72 Pine Street, Kingston, an associate district lay leader, is registrar and a member of the program committee. At the 1959 fall assembly Clinton Avenue Methodist Church Kingston, had the highest number in attendance at the laymen's gathering and the Methodist Men's club was awarded a bronze worship center. The group hopes to retain the award this year.

Y'all Be There, Now

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — It probably wasn't meant that way, but the men's chorus rehearsal reminder in the St. John Evangelical Church bulletin read: "All male communicants who will be able to sin at the services next Sunday are urged to take part."

Secret of Political MagicBy JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Earl was a country bumpkin compared with Huey but the two Long brothers who died 25 years apart, almost to the day, had the secret of political magic.

They were for something—just being against isn't good enough—and they gave those who voted for them a sense of direction, or of belonging, or of being wanted, or of somehow being identified with them.

Earl had been a three-time Louisiana governor. When he died Monday at 63 he had just won the Democratic runoff primary for a congressional seat after losing a fight for lieutenant governor and ducking in and out of mental hospitals.

Bigger Than Politics

When Sen. Huey Long died Sept. 10, 1935, after being shot, he had become bigger than Louisiana politics. He was a national figure, getting bigger and, from the long-range view, perhaps more dangerous.

This writer never believed that Sen. Joseph McCarthy, despite such support as he had, would ever go further than the Senate, or that he would remain there long after his crusade simmered down.

McCarthy wasn't for something. He was against something—Com-

Robert Graves, principal of the Port Ewen attendance area, announced that school will open Wednesday at Port Ewen, Ulster Park and Rifton. Pupils will be picked up at approximately 8:20 a. m. at the same pick-up points as last year in Chappie's busses.

There will be all-day sessions at all schools except for kindergarten pupils who will be dismissed at 10:15 a. m. for morning session pupils and 2 p. m. for afternoon session pupils for its launching earlier this year."

The Ulster Park school will be attended by pupils in Grades 1-4. Mrs. Henry Neher will be the teacher.

In the Port Ewen school the cafeteria will be open the first day of school.

Youths Help Joan Davis
From Fire in Home

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Movie comedienne Joan Davis said today she'd like to thank two unidentified youths who knocked on her door and announced: "Your house is on fire."

Miss Davis was watching television Monday in a downstairs living room of the $135,000 mansion in nearby Bel-Air. The youths had noticed smoke billowing from an upstairs bedroom.

They helped Miss Davis to safety, then left before firemen could get their names.

Damage to the home was extensive.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her gown was of Chantilly lace and silk organza over bridal satin. A fitted bodice, Sabrina neckline outlined with pearls and sequins, long sleeves and bouffant skirt with lace panels, were the feature highlights of her gown. The skirt ended in a chapel train. A French imported silk illusion veil in fingertip length was secured to a princess crown of pearls. The bride carried a cascade of white carnations with a white orchid center.

The honor attendant, Miss Carol Lowe, wore a gown of crystal blue nylon sheer styled with Chantilly lace, fitted bodice, cap sleeves and bouffant ballerina length skirt. A halo type crown held a circular veil and she carried a cascade of pink carnations.

Miss Beverly Van Voorhis and Miss Virginia Cashara were the bridesmaids in gowns of buttercup yellow with nylon sheer and Chantilly lace. They also wore halo type headpieces with circular veils and carried cascades of white and red feathered carnations.

A reception for more than 150 guests was held at the Yacht Club Restaurant.

For her wedding trip to Niagara Falls and Canada, the bride wore a green and white dress with white accessories.

Mr. and Mrs. Helsley will reside in Hurley when they return from their trip.

A FAMILY COAT OF ARMS

Dear Mrs. Post: The family of mine recently had their family tree traced and have discovered a coat of arms which until now they did not know existed. They have had emblems in color made of it and have sewn these onto various articles of clothing, such as sports jackets, blazers, etc., similar to those worn by students. I was always under the impression that the family crest or coat of arms was reserved for seal rings, silver, stationery, etc., but I have never seen it displayed in this way on clothing. Am I correct in believing that this is an improper use of a crest?

Answer: You are right, to display one's crest or coat of arms on clothing is improper and in very bad taste.

Flowers the Bridegroom Buys

Dear Mrs. Post: I would like to know just what flowers I am supposed to pay for at my forthcoming wedding. My fiancee seems to think that I should pay for all the flowers, such as the bridal bouquet, the bridesmaids' and ushers' flowers and the flowers for the decoration of the church. Will you please advise me?

Answer: It is impossible to give definite directions because customs differ in different communities. Even so, the bridegroom always buys the boutonnieres for the ushers as well as his own and that of the best man. He usually also buys the corsage the bride wears away, and in many communities her bouquet as well. It is incorrect, however, and very unfair to expect him to buy the flowers carried by the bridesmaids. And, of course, he never pays for the decorations of the church or reception.

Red Ink for Writing Letters

Dear Mrs. Post: A friend of mine always uses red ink when writing letters. Is not the use of red ink incorrect for social correspondence?

Answer: Excepting at Christmas time for greetings, red ink is in very bad taste.

Mrs. Post offers readers leaflets on a variety of subjects concerning etiquette. If you would like to have her leaflet E-22, entitled "Names and Signatures," send 10 cents in coin to Dept. E.P., care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, P.O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N.Y. Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail.

Fashion Expert Will Visit in Kingston

Fashions start in Paris and end up with well-dressed Kingston women, says Miss Joan Browne, New York figure stylist.

In a recent interview, Miss Browne, who will be at the Kingston Montgomery Ward store from September 12 to September 17, outlined the important fashion news for Fall, which include:

An emphasis on soft fabrics... sheer woolens, tissue-light tweeds, gossamer chiffons, draped silks and jerseys, clinging knits;

A silhouette brought closer to the body, but always soft and fluid, with narrowed skirts;

A natural waist in the princess lines, tiny in sheaths and full-skirted styles, lowered in the long torso;

Trimmed and girdled hips, with hips, with a shaped bodice extending down to them.

A high, rounded, shaped, but unaccented bosom.

"The new fashions follow closely the ideal contours of the body," Miss Browne went on to say. "New foundation garments concentrate on the same areas—the rounded bosom, the lissome waist, the neat hipline—with a strongest emphasis on the smooth midriff and waist."

"A good foundation garment is essential for women who want to wear the new fashions," says Miss Browne. "I'll be at Wards to give free consultations and fittings, to help women choose the garment that will make the most of their new wardrobes."

S. W. Fleming, manager of the Kingston Montgomery Ward store, also extends an invitation to all women to come to the store to meet Miss Browne and talk about their individual figure needs.

Completes Nursing Studies at Kingston Hospital School

MISS JEAN SICKLES
Miss Jean Sickles of 64 Smith Avenue, this city, was graduated Thursday, Sept. 1 from Kingston Hospital School of Nursing. Exercises were held at the Nurses Residence.

The graduate also won two awards — the Morris Kalish award for having maintained the highest rating in nursing arts; and the Dr. H. L. Rakow award for obtaining the highest average in theoretical class work during the three years. Miss Sickles also won a membership award in the New York State Nurses Association for one year for demonstrating leadership, ability and participation in the student nurse organization of her school.

Miss Sickles is planning to remain on the staff of the Kingston Hospital and will attend evening classes at State University College of Education at New Paltz.

Peter Mathews To Head Scout Campaign Here

Peter Mathews, 28 James Street, Rosendale, was appointed today to head the Rosendale 1960 Boy Scout finance campaign by Gifford Beal, general chairman of the 1960 Rip Van Winkle Council finance drive.

Mathews will announce shortly the key men who will join him in operating the local campaign.

This year the Rosendale campaign will bring the Scouting message to more local homes than ever before," Mathews said. "We will see that the campaign slogan, 'Better a Boy's Tomorrow—Support Scouting Today' is understood in terms of the vital impact of the Boy Scout movement on the boys and young men of Rosendale."

In the Kingston area, the Rip Van Winkle Council, Boy Scouts of America, is a participating agency of the Kingston Area Community Chest.

No stranger to Scouting, Mathews has served as a committee-man for the local Troop 17.

In addition to his Boy Scout work Mathews has been active in St. Peter's Holy Names Society, Knights of Columbus, American Legion, and even plays a banjo in affairs to help raise funds for charitable purposes.

Mathews is a partner in the Colonial City Carpet Company of Kingston, and resides with his wife Helen, and six boys on James Street, Rosendale.

Beta Sigma Phi

Gamma Chi Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi held their second annual barbecue at the home of Miss Agnes Wilke, Bullville, N. Y. Wednesday evening.

Members attending were the Mimes, Owen Dugan, Donald Graham, William Cote, William Keating, Michael Lissman, Phillip Parodi, Joseph Myers, Walter Thomas and Rudolph Wells and the Misses Artemis Goumas, Betty McManus, Kathleen Miller and Bev Wetherbee.

It was announced that the first fall business meeting would be held at the home of Miss Agnes Wilke, 4 Ponknoch Street, Tuesday evening September 6 at 8 p. m.

The agenda for the coming year will be discussed at that time.

Personals

The Cabelleros won the local competition sponsored annually by the Colonial Cavaliers drum and bugle corps of Port Ewen.

Three Teenage Girls Missing From Home

Kingston Police sent out television alarms Sunday night reporting three teenage girls missing from their homes.

The girls were identified as, Gail Scott, 13, of 40 West Chester Street, who was described as five feet tall, wearing black Bermuda shorts, a blue blouse, gray shoes; Frances Augustine, 13, of 124 Hasbrouck Avenue, described as, five feet, three inches tall, wearing black shoes, pink blouse, and black Bermuda shorts, and Diane Vogt, 13, of 545 Hasbrouck Avenue, five feet, two inches tall, weighing 130 pounds, wearing a red sweater and red skirt.

Police said the girls might have gone to Yorktown Heights.

Must Appear Tonight On Leaving Scene Count

Accused of leaving the scene after a 1959 rented automobile he was driving crashed into a parked station wagon owned by Patrolman Harry Short and damaging the entire left side of the vehicle, James H. Stokes, 22, of 131 Clinton Avenue, will appear in City Court today at 8 p. m.

Lieut. Lemuel Howard said Stokes, who was booked by Detective Charles McCullough, posted a $50 bond pending disposition of the charge.

According to police reports, Short's vehicle was parked near his home on Andrew Street, when it was struck early Saturday day.

Kaufman Defeats Hughes, 2 and 1, to Win City Golf Title

New Champ Survives Late Rally for Win

Bill Kaufman, Wiltwyck Country Club's "new" golf champion is also the new Kingston City match game champion.

Refusing to buckle under a late drive by his opponent, Kaufman defeated George Hughes, Twaalfskill's perennial representative in the Labor Day classic, 2 and 1.

Trailing by five holes at the end of 27, Hughes birdied the first and fourth holes to shave Kaufman's lead to two holes, with five remaining. But the Wiltwyck champion hung on grimly to halve the next three holes and close out the match with a par four on the eighth (35th) hole.

Kaufman's victory gave Wiltwyck Country Club a 9-5 lead in the series that started in 1946. It was a brilliant sequel to the Saugerties putting master's recent triumph in the Wiltwyck finals, giving him two major titles within two weeks and gaining him admission to the Lodge of area champions, for the first time.

Kaufman toured his home links in a three-over-par 75 on the morning round with nines of 39-36, carding birdies on the second, fourth and 12th holes. Hughes went 39-37-78.

The new champion matched par figures of 36 on Wiltwyck's back nine, zooming to a four-hole lead at the end of 17. Hughes momentarily stemmed the tide with a birdie-3 on Wiltwyck's 18th sending the players to Twaalfskill with Kaufman holding a comfortable but not insurmountable lead.

The rally that Twaalfskill partisans thought Hughes would surely mount on his home links never materialized. Kaufman unloaded a booming drive off the first tee and won the hole with a par-4, as Hughes missed a 2-footer. Hughes ran down a 20-foot birdie on the second (20th) hole but both bogied the No. 3 hole. Kaufman birdied the 22nd and 25th from six feet to go five up. He toured the front nine at Twaalfskill in 34 to Hughes' one-over 36 and had a comfortable five-hole lead with nine to go.

Launches Counter Attack

Hughes, plagued by straying woods, faulty approaches and inadequate putting, launched his counter attack on the 28th hole, hitting a 2-footer. Hughes missed a 2-footer, Hughes ran down a 20-foot birdie on the second (20th) hole but both bogied the No. 3 hole. Kaufman birdied the 22nd and 25th from six feet to go five up. He toured the front nine at Twaalfskill in 34 to Hughes' one-over 36 and had a comfortable five-hole lead with nine to go.

If Kaufman was to collapse, the stage was set but the steady, deliberate Wiltwyck champion refused to crack under the mounting pressure. They played the long fifth (32nd) in even par 5's, both having long putts. On the par-3 thirty third, Kaufman planted his tee shot 20 feet above the pin, and Hughes, trapped from this drive, exploded beautifully from the trap, the ball nicking the stick. They halved in 3's.

The match probably ended on the 34th hole, a par-five hole where Kaufman scuffed his fairway wood and needed three to reach the fringe of the uphill hole. Hughes hooked his approach in the short rough to the left of the green but was weak coming out and left himself a 6-footer which he failed to can-

Tennessee Teacher Heroine of Olympics

By WILL GRIMSLY

Associated Press Sports Writer

ROME AP)—The track and field heroine of the 17th Olympic Games is a shy, frail and almost sickly Tennessee girl who never walked until she was eight years old.

As a baby, Wilma Rudolph was stricken with a form of polio which rendered her limbs helpless. Every week her mother wrapped the whining infant in a blanket and took her by bus 45 miles from Clarksville, Tenn., to Nashville for treatment.

Wilma learned to walk. Then she learned to run.

Today she is the fastest woman runner in the world—acclaimed as another in a line of great Olympic champions which includes the late Babe Didrikson, Fanny Blankers-Koen and Betty Cuthbert.

Second Gold Medal

The tall, leggy Tennessee girl won her second gold medal Monday, capturing the 200-meter race in 24 seconds flat on a slow track. Previously she had won the 100 in a phenomenal 11 seconds. On Thursday she anchors three of her Negro teammates from Tennessee A. and I. College in the sprint relay for a probable third.

Until Wilma did it, no American ever won the women's 200. She became the first double gold medalist for the United States in women's track and field since the immortal Didrikson won the hurdles and javelin in 1932.

She is the darling of the Rome games—surrounded by admiring fans and autograph-seekers, pursued by the press and adored by an Italian populace which has equal fascination for a good athlete and a striking woman.

Wilma has wowed them all, but none perhaps more than her coach, big and gruff Edward Temple of Tennessee A. and I., who also is coach of the Olympic women's team.

"This girl has limitless potential," says Temple. "She has height (5-1), good legs, natural speed, a dogged determination and, best of all, perfect relaxation."

"There's not a nerve in her body, she's almost lazy. She often goes to sleep between semifinal and final runs. She can go to sleep on the rubbing table."

Wilma's 11 seconds flat was the fastest a woman ever covered 100 yards, but a wind technicality prevented acceptance of the time as a world record. She has done the 200 in 22.9, a world record, and has 5.8 seconds for 50 meters and .05.7 for 50 yards.

Stickles Scores Touchdown for San Francisco

Monty Stickles scored his first touchdown as a professional football player Saturday as his San Francisco 49er team mates dropped a 26-24 exhibition tilt to the Cleveland Browns.

The ex-Poughkeepsie High and Notre Dame star caught a 12-yard pass from quarterback John Brodie in the first period to get his TD.

Stickles has been one of the bright spots in the San Francisco camp. Late reporting from the All-Star game, he has so impressed the coaches with his blocking and aggressiveness that he has moved ahead of Dee MacKey, the starter for the first three exhibition tilts. At present, Monty is playing the tight end slot on the left side of the offensive line.

Pott Wins Golf Crown At Dallas

DALLAS (AP)—Johnny Pott had just won the $25,000 Dallas Open Golf Tournament and was remarking about how tired he was.

"He said he thought he'd just pass up the Salt Lake City Open this week and go dove hunting. But he asked Harvey Raynor, PGA tournament supervisor, if it would be all right."

"Sure," said Raynor, "but why should you quit when he had just won a tournament and might win some more the way you are playing?"

Johnny batted his eyes and then proclaimed: "Well, you can put me down as going to Salt Lake City."

Pott, the tall young man who registers from Shreveport, La., but says he actually "lives in my automobile on the tour," won his first tournament when he took a playoff with Ted Kroll and Bo Winingar for the $3,500 first money in the Dallas Open Monday.

He had been campaigning four years and, while finishing second twice and winning a big share of the prize money each year, never could quite make it to the top.

He shot his best golf, course considered, in taking down the big prize here, doing a closing 2-under-par 68 for a 72-hole score of 275, then winning the playoff on the third hole with a birdie deuce.

Kroll, of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., had a great 66 on his last round while Winingar, the semi-retired touring pro from Odessa, Tex., wound up with a 67.

Close Season

Dutchmen Split Pair Of Weekend Contests

The Saugerties Dutchmen concluded their regular season play in the Catskill Mountain League by splitting a pair of weekend verdicts.

The Dutchmen smothered Catskill, 14-0, at the losers' field on Sunday as Barry Wolveen hurled a neat two-hitter. However, Bill Straub's youngsters dropped an 8-7 verdict at Canfield Field yesterday against Oak Hill.

The team had a 10-5 mark in the circuit, losing all of its games by one run. If Windham split a pair of its weekend contests, there is a possibility of a triple tie for the lead between the Dutchmen, Windham and Oak Hill. If Windham won both weekend tilts, the Dutchmen can finish in a tie for second or in undisputed possession of second place.

Wolveen was in rare form on Sunday. He walked only one batter and allowed a pair of singles. The Dutchmen put the game out of reach with a seven run burst in the fourth inning.

John Nolan and Ziggy Zeilman hit homers, Eddie Rizzoli and John Snyder banged triples and Straub and Don Mormile had doubles in the extra base hit barrage.

Mike Spada recently signed to a contract by the New York Yankees, had control trouble against Oak Hill. He walked seven batters before being derided in the seventh. John Nolan came in and walked a batter and hit one before Wolveen relieved after pitching the previous day. Barry didn't have it this time. He surrendered the winning runs in the eighth frame.

ROME (AP) — Hulking Al Oerter of West Babylon, N.Y., led qualifiers in defense of his Olympic discus championship with a record-breaking toss today but world record holder Rafer Johnson slipped back to second after six events of the grueling 10-event decathlon.

Oerter, leading a three-man American advance into the discus finals, hurled the disk 191 feet, 8½ inches—smashing by more than six feet his Olympic mark of 184-10' set in winning the event at Melbourne in 1956.

Advancing with the former Kansas star were Rank Babka, former Southern California great from Manhattan Beach, Calif., and Dick Cochran, former Missouri ace from Brookfield, Mo. Babka hit 178-8½ and Cochran 176-3½.

None pressed himself since all that was required was to top the Twenty - two of the 36 entries qualifying standard of 170-7½. Twenty - two of the 36 entries made it into the final, including such challengers to U.S. discus hopes as world champion Edmund Piatkowski of Poland, Jozef Szewczenko of Hungary, and Vladimir Trusnev and Kim Bukanov of Russia.

Also making it was Adolfo Consolini, who won the Olympic discus gold medal for Italy in 1948. Ira Davis of Philadelphia was among the qualifiers for the afternoon hop, step and jump finals with 51-3¾ in which Josef Schmidt of Poland established an Olympic mark of 53-11½.

Tremendous Duel

But all was overshadowed by the tremendous duel underway in the decathlon between America's Johnson and his buddy from UCLA, C. K. Yang of Formosa.

Showing the exhausting strain of Monday's first five events although he is the bigger man physically, Johnson could do not better than 15.3 seconds today in the sixth event—the 110-meter hurdles. When Yang did 14.6, he picked up 92 points for a six-event total of 5.515. Johnson, with 740 points for the hurdles, had an overall total of 5.387.

Russia's Vasilii Kuznetsov had moved up to third place but with 4.812 he had a long way to go to catch the two leaders.

The four events remaining in the decathlon—the discus, pole vault, javelin and 1,500 meter run—all will be contested before the day is over.

Phil McKinley of Memphis, the only other U.S. decathlon entry still competing, did poorly in the hurdles and was well back in the overall listings with 4.042 points.

Dave Edstrom of Sherwood, Ore., the third U.S. entry was forced to retire Monday when he pulled a leg muscle in the broad jump.

That was about the only misfortune for the United States Monday.

Five Gold Medals

The Americans picked up five gold medals in track and boxing with a minimum of surprises or upsets and stood right behind the Russians in the unofficial team scoring race.

The Soviets had 385½ points to America's 355½.

But the U.S. trouble there lie in the fact that the U.S.S.R. now goes into gymnastics—where they will undoubtedly pile up a bundle of medals, also in wrestling and shooting, whereas Uncle Sam has nearly finished big scoring.

Wilma Rudolph, the newly crowned 100 meter Olympic champion, added the 200 meters with a minimum of surprises or upsets and stood right behind the Russians in the unofficial team scoring race.

Women's League
Meets Wednesday

The Woodstock League of Women Voters opens its 1960-61 season Wednesday night, September 7, at 8 p. m. at Deane's. This promises to be an interesting and informative meeting with a panel of chairmen discussing such League interests as Court Reform, Education, Water Resources and Voters Service.

The year ahead will be a busy one, first with the activity surrounding the presidential election, then with the increase interest in foreign policy, court reform in New York state, what can be done about aid to education, and the vital question of our water resources.

The League of Women Voters has much to offer and a place where each member can study, work, or just be an interested observer. Our hostesses for the evening: Mrs. Pan Copeland, Mrs. Robert Bartlett, and Mrs. Alvin Moscovitz are looking forward to greeting each member and extending a sincere welcome to all visitors and prospective members.

Women of voting age who desire to be better informed citizens are invited to join with the Women's League for the Wednesday night meeting. The League points out there is much to do and much to learn about our local, state and national governments.

John Sekul, 34 of Bruckner Boulevard, Bronx, driving a 1954 sedan was in collision with the 1957 station wagon operated by Donald Wallace, 26 of Rosendale, Kingston State Police reported.

Sekul was traveling north on Cottekill Road when the car he was driving went into the southbound lane and in collision with the Wallace station wagon. Both vehicles were damaged in the front end, according to Trooper David Wachtel.

Sekul, arrested for failure to keep right, pleaded guilty before Rosendale Town Justice of the Peace Edward Brodsky, and paid a $10 fine. The mishap occurred at 4:30 a. m.

174,000 Strong March
In Labor Day Parade

NEW YORK (AP)—Hula dancers wiggled by and delicatessen workers dished out salami and bologna Monday as workers turned out 174,000 strong for the Fifth Avenue Labor Day parade.

An estimated 600,000 spectators lined the 34-block-long route to watch members of the city's arts, crafts and industries march in a review that lasted into the night.

Many marchers carried flares after nightfall, giving the parade the look of an old-time torchlight procession.

Providing much of the music and lots of color were members of the various musicians and show business union.
